HOUSTON'S ALL ORIGINAL - YET CLASSIC - ROCK BAND

Darwins God is a 4-piece band operating out of Houston, Texas – labeled as “Houston’s All-Original - Yet Classic - Rock Band”, they were formed in Katy, TX during 2007.

The band consists of James Hook (lead vocal, guitar), Dom Arguelles (lead vocal, guitar), John Walden (bass, vocal), and Chris Drabek (percussion). Darwins God’s full-length CD (released August 2008) is available at any show, on-line via the www.darwingsgod.com website, or on-line at iTunes and Amazon.

Though the band is relatively new to the Houston scene, Darwins God members bring with them years of experience both as writers and performers – in the studio and on the stage. With member experiences consisting of everything from state-side touring to European stints, and from casual studio experience to first-call studio players, the backbone of this group is second to none.

Often compared to the likes of The Eagles or The Allman Brothers Band because of their affinity for vocal harmonies, and southern-style, classic, bluesy tones, you are sure to find their sound as refreshing as it is familiar. While those comparisons may apply at a glance, further listening will unveil the quality and depth of lyric that winds its way through the melodies. One minute you’re in the swamps of Louisiana at dusk, relaxing in an old hand-built rocking chair on the porch of your run-down shanty...the next you’re packing your bags, and leaving everything you know behind on a search for new beginnings.

The songs in the Darwins God original set list will conjure up memories of a time when players not only cared about playing well, but about the song. Songwriting is number one priority for Darwins God – believing that a great song is timeless – and still preferred even in today’s quick-fix/cookie cutter world of music. If you’ve been wondering where all the great songs have gone, we hope you’ve found them once again in “shoes for fish”.

Darwins God is currently prepared to provide professional, ego-free, solid opening and headlining sets for local or national touring acts.
